The American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular.

[ESTABLISHED 1852.]

PUBLICATION OFFICE, 28 ELM STREET, (TEMPORARY OFFICE, 54 DUANE ST.,) NEW YORK.

VOL. XLVII., No. 24.

NEW YORK, June 15, 1895.

WHOLE NO. 1220

D. APPLETON & CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

European and American Cuisine.

By GESINE LEMCKE, author of "Desserts and Salads," and Principal of the Brooklyn Cooking College. Small 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

A practical and complete guide to household cookery by a well-known teacher and lecturer, whose experience in Europe and in this country has enabled her to appreciate the requirements to be satisfied.

A Study in Prejudices.

By GEORGE PASTON. No. 170, Town and Country Library. 12mo, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

This striking and interesting story will be found none the less interesting because it questions one of the unwritten laws by which men and women are judged.

"A bright story, a tale to be read, essentially modern in conception."—London Literary World.

Appletons' Canadian Guide-Book.

Complete in one volume. With maps and illustrations. 12mo, flexible cloth, $1.50.

In one convenient volume are presented Prof. Roberts' delightful Guide to Eastern Canada, and also supplementary chapters which guide the tourist through Western Canada, across the plains of Manitoba, through the beautiful scenery of the Canadian Rockies and British Columbia to Vancouver and Victoria. The complete volume furnishes a useful and comprehensive study of the great empire of Canada as a whole which will be indispensable for any one interested in the subject.

The Story of "Primitive" Man.

By EDWARD CLODD, author of "The Story of Creation," etc. Library of Useful Stories. Illustrated. 16mo, cloth, 40 cents.

This volume presents the results of the latest investigations into the early history of the human race. The value of an up-to-date summary like this is especially marked in view of the interest of the subject. Like the successful "Story of the Stars," this book is written in clear, concise language, as free as possible from technical words and phrases. The author is a recognized authority, and his lucid text is accompanied by a large number of attractive illustrations.

The Vengeance of James Vansittart.

By Mrs. J. H. NEEDELL, author of "Stephen Ellicott's Daughter," etc. No. 169, Town and Country Library. 12mo, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

Mrs. Needell has always shown a quick appreciation of the dramatic possibilities which lie so near the surface of every-day life, but her study of motives and primitive forces has resulted in nothing so absorbing as the story which is unfolded in her latest book.

The Zeit-Geist.

By L. DOUGALL, author of "The Mermaid," "Beggars All," etc. 16mo, cloth, 75 cents.

Miss Dougall has written a charming and thoughtful story in "The Zeit-Geist" which will not be forgotten by the reader. Its suggestions are of peculiar interest at a time when the subjects touched upon are in so many minds.

Duologues and Scenes from the Novels of Jane Austen.

Arranged and Adapted for Drawing-Room Performance, by ROSINA FILIPPI (Mrs. Dowson). With 8 Illustrations by Miss Fletcher. 12mo, cloth, gilt top, $1.00. Uniform with the Dent Edition of Miss Austen's Novels.

THE FIRST VOLUME NOW READY.

THE NOVELS OF H. DE BALZAC.

Edited by GEORGE SAINTSBURY. To be completed in about 40 volumes, published monthly.

THE WILD ASS'S SKIN (La Peau de Chagrin).

Translated anew by ELLEN MARRIAGE. With a General Introduction to the Series, and a Special Introduction to this Novel, by GEORGE SAINTSBURY; and a Portrait and Two Full Page Etchings by W. BOUCHER. Carefully printed on paper specially prepared. Crown 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

*Mr. George Saintsbury has undertaken the editorship of this edition of Balzac. He has contributed to the above first volume an interesting and valuable introduction dealing biographically with Balzac, and critically with his work in general, and he will also contribute an introduction to each work, as it appears. The translations themselves will in no case be reprints of former versions, but have been and will be specially executed under the supervision of the editor, Mr. Saintsbury.

By the Author of "The Friendship of Nature."

Birdcraft.

A Field Book of Two Hundred Song, Game and Water Birds. By MABEL OSGOOD WRIGHT. With full-page plates containing 128 birds in their natural colors, and other illustrations. 8vo, linen, $3.00 net.

"If this volume were devoid of illustrations and depended entirely on its letter-press for success, it would be welcomed as an acquisition to English literature. It is more than an accurate and comprehensive description of all the birds one is likely to find in an extended search. It is also an introduction to them and their haunts, so enticingly written that the reader at once falls in love with them, and becomes an enthusiast in their pursuit. Its general chapters are prose poems, instinct with the life of the woods and fields, and the more formal ones, in which the characteristics of each tribe are set forth in order, abound in vivacious touches, which give color and life even to the dry details."

NOW READY: New Novel by the author of "Esther Waters," "Mummer's Wife," etc.

Celibates.

By GEORGE MOORE. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

*"Mr. Moore has greatly improved in his art since 'The Mummer's Wife' and 'Esther Waters.' These three stories deal bluntly with some of the actualities of life, but not grossly as to intention, not with a willingness to corrupt people: rather with a desire to lift them up and purify the perceptions of the average person. It does not cast over the evil that men do any dreamy, idyllic glamour, nor does it attempt to make the impure seem pure. . . . Mr. Moore's art in the description of nature, which he introduces in landscape and atmospheric effect, and of persons, is very subtle: he brings out this idea well in each story with wonderful imaginative writing."—New York Herald.

NOW READY. VOLUME I.

A HISTORY OF ENGLISH POETRY.

By W. J. COURTHOPE, M.A. Vol. I. THE MIDDLE AGES: INFLUENCE OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE; THE ENCYCLOPÆDIC EDUCATION OF THE CHURCH; THE FEUDAL SYSTEM. 8vo, cloth, $2.50 net.

*"What we have already said will probably suffice to show that it is animated by a large and humane historical spirit, equally remote from laborious antiquarianism and rhetorical æstheticism—from grubbing and from gush. Mr. Courthope is a student of origins and developments; yet he does not forget in his care for seed, stalk, and leaf that it is after all the flower, the thing of beauty and fragrance, which gives the organism its meaning and 'to which the whole creation moves.'"—Daily Chronicle.

PUBLISHERS who have not yet sent us word as to the amount of space they wish to occupy in the "Publishers' Trade List Annual" are requested to return without delay the blanks sent to them with the desired information. It is the intention of this office to issue the Annual this year at the earliest possible moment.

NOTES IN SEASON.

GINN & Co. will publish this summer "A History of Greece," by Prof. P. Van Ness Myers, of the University of Cincinnati.

LAMSON, WOLFFE & Co., Boston, will publish shortly an American edition of Ferd. Ongania's "Art of Printing in the Renaissance."

JOHNSON & EMIGH, San Francisco, Cal., announce a neat Popular Authors' Series, the first number of which is to be "Black Beetles in Amber," by Ambrose Bierce, author of "Can Such Things Be?" etc.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will add at once to their German Texts a Danish impression of Charles Dickens, by Charles Christian Andersen, edited by Dr. Wilhelm Bernhardt. They will also publish Wichert's amusing curtain-raiser, "An der Majorsecke."

B. HERDER, St. Louis, Mo., has just issued "A New Practical German Grammar and Exercise Book for learning German without a master, and for the use of schools, colleges, etc.," by Dr. Rudolf Sonnenburg and Rev. M. Schoelch; also an authorized translation by Rev. B. Hammer, of Sgn. Seiler's sketch of the life and character of the Ven. Mother Frances Schervier, foundress of the Congregation of the Sisters of the Poor of St. Francis.

FUNK & WAGNALLS Co. have begun work on an academic edition of the "Standard Dictionary," to be published as "The Student's Standard Dictionary." It will be an octavo in size, printed in two columns, each the same in breadth as those in the "Standard," and contain 750 pages, or about one-sixth part of the matter contained in the large work. This condensation is obtained by the omission of less important and technical words. The completeness of the definitions is, however, retained, so also are the etymologies, synonyms and antonyms. The phonetic respelling of the "Standard" will be retained as a rule. The general plan will be to include in the vocabulary all words and meanings found in the English classics now studied in the higher schools and colleges.

MACMILLAN & Co. will publish at once the celebrated work on "Catholic Socialism," by Prof. Francesco S. Nitti, of the University of Naples, translated by Mary Mackintosh and introduced by Prof. David G. Ritchie, of St. Andrews; a little book entitled "Fifty Years, or, Dead Leaves and Living Seed," a delightfully informal sketch by Prebendary Harry Jones, of his various experiences during a long clerical career; "A Son of the Plains," a new story of life in New Mexico in the early days of its settlement, by Arthur Paterson, author of "A Daughter of the Nez Percés"; the fifth and sixth volumes of Thomas Hodgkin's exhaustive work on "Italy and Her Invaders," covering the period from the expulsion of the Goths from Italy to the death of King Liutprand (A.D. 553-744); also, a revised edition of "Progressive Morality," in which some passages—as, for instance, those on the comparison of the different kinds of pleasure—have been rewritten, and in which also there are a few additional paragraphs, mainly bearing on the important subject of the relation of morality to religion.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no prices, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

In the first part of the book the author quotes the prophecies of Jesus Christ and points out their historic fulfillment. The typology presents "Ceremonial types" of Christ in the rites and sacrifices of the Mosaic economy, "personal types" in those holy men who preceded Christ; and "material types" in those things that offered health and safety. Twenty-five prophecies by Christ himself and some scriptural poems bring the volume to a close.

Bruce, J. Randall, comp. Stenographie phonetique phonographie Pitman; adapted in French by J. Randall Bruce. N. Y., I: Pitman & Sons, [1895.] 3-78 p. S. pap., 50 c. [1988]

The President of the Folk-Lore Society, a recognized authority, here states in language as free as possible from technical terms the results of the latest investigations into the early history of the human race. A large number of illustrations bring out the distinguishing characteristics of the ancient stone age, the newer stone age and the age of metals. A selected book-list of two pages gives authorities and suggests supplementary reading. Full index.

Cook, Albert S. Exercises in old English: based upon the prose texts of the author's "First book in old English." Bost., Ginn & Co., 1895. c. 4+68 p. D. flex. cl., 40 c. [1993]

The author's experience in the teaching of Old English has persuaded him that exercises for translation into Old English, as they are furnished for translation into Latin and Greek, would serve a useful purpose. He has prepared a book of exercises, only sufficient in length to enforce the requisite knowledge of inflections, of groups of the various classes of verbs, and of the most essential principles of syntax. A vocabulary of English. Old English occupies thirty-two pages in the back of the book. The author is Professor of English Language in Yale University.

Dougall, L. The zeit-geist. N. Y., Appleton, 1895. c. 4+184 p. nar. D. buckram, 75 c.

The scene is Canada in the region north of Lake Ontario. Bartholomew Toyner, the hero, is a reformed drunkard, his wife the daughter of a murderer; together they become a blessing to all around them. Toyner was converted by an earnest preacher but soon outgrew the narrow conception of God preached by this man. The gradually developing religious views of Toyner, which strike many as heretical, are founded in perfect faith in an all-embracing God and constant action for the good of his fellow-man, and are in accordance with the spirit of the time (Zeit-geist.)

[2001]

Phineas Parkhurst Quimby was born in the town of Lebanon, N. H., in 1802. In 1838 he discovered that he had mesmeric power and began exercising it to cure disease. For many years he endeavored to reduce to a science his theory that disease was an error of the mind and not a real thing, and finally felt that he had discovered a truth he could teach to others. He died in 1886.

- Mabry, J. C. A legal view of the trial of Christ. Cin., O., The Standard Pub. Co., [1895.] c. 5+95 p. por. S. buckram, 75 c. [2033]
A detailed account of the trial of Jesus Christ, showing that the only crime for which he could be legally tried at the time was blasphemy, and that on this question he was fully exonerated. Proves by the Gospel narrative that the trial was wholly unjust and illegal according to the Roman and Jewish laws of that day.
- Marshall, Luther. Thomas Boobig: a complete enough account of his life and singular disappearance, narration of his scribe. Bost., Lee & Shepard, [1895.] c. 6+349 p. 1 il. D. cl., $1.50. [2034]
Thomas Boobig, a shy, delicate lad, all at once started to grow and continued to grow until he suggested the startling possibility of a reappearance on earth of the elder gods or Titans. His growth of character was proportionate and he did much good and extraordinary work in the world. Soon after his twenty-first birthday he disappeared. He was then singularly handsome and still growing. The scene is American.
- *Martin, G: W. Interest and average tables for averaging mercantile accounts. Rochester, E. Darrow & Co., 1895. 8°, cl., $3. [2035]
- Mason, Caroline Atwater. A minister of the world. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1895.] c. 5-154 p. il. D. cl., 75 c. [2036]
Stephen Castle, installed in the little New England pastorate of Thornton, is perfectly satisfied with his surroundings, until, meeting Miss Loring from New York, he imbibes new ideas. He finally accepts a call to a fashionable New York church, and his action thereafter is interesting chiefly on account of the contrasts which it offers to his former methods.
- *Meade, Eric. Pen pictures and how to draw them: a practical handbook on the various methods of illustrating in black and white for process engraving, with numerous designs, diagrams and sketches. N. Y., imported by C: Scribner's Sons, 1895. 3+100 p. il. 12°, cl., 75 c. [2037]
- Miller, Ellen, and Whiting, Margaret Christine. Wild flowers of the northeastern states: being three hundred and eight individuals common to the northeastern United States, drawn and described from life. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1895. 11+622 p. il. Q. cl., $4.50. [2038]
Specially designed to make the acquaintance of flowers more easy to non-scientific folk. Numberless traits of race habit and personal traits of growth to which unlearned observers attach significance are given, and life-size pictures of the flowers have been made by the compilers to simplify their recognition. The floral families have been arranged in the order employed in "Gray's manual." There are separate indexes of the scientific and the common names. In every instance the description of the flower faces its pen and ink representation.
- Miller, Marcus A. Is a man worth as much as a horse? What makes him worth more and less? Sifted, simmered, spiced; with a condensed report of the federal labor

- commissioner upon the great strike. 2d ed. Chic., Rockwell & Rupel Co., [1895.] c. '94. 110 p. por. il. S. pap., 10 c. [2039]
- A dispassionate statement of the dearth of patriots in America and the increase of politicians. Sensible thoughts on the problems of emigration, educational clause in qualification for suffrage, rights and duties of employers and employed, causes of strikes, methods of arbitration, etc. An appendix gives the report of the Federal Commission who investigated the Pullman strike.
- *Minnesota. Supreme ct. Reports. V. 56, Dec. 1893-Feb., 1894. C: C. Willson, rep. St. Paul, West Pub. Co., 1895. c. 13+592 p. O. shp., $2.75. [2040]
- Money, Silas H., (pseud.) Base "coin" exposed: being the arrest, exposure, and confession of W. H. H. Money, and the dismissal of the so-called "Coin's financial school." Chic., E. A. Weeks & Co., [1895.] c. 4-277 p. 1 il. D. (Melbourne ser., no. 33.) pap., 25 c. [2041]
- Under the pseudonym of "Silas Honest Money" an answer is made to "Coin's" free silver theories. In an appendix Horace White's "Coin's financial fool" is given in full.
- Moulton, R. G., ed. Four years of novel reading: an account of an experiment in popularizing the study of fiction; ed., with an introd., by R. G. Moulton. Bost., D. C. Heath & Co., 1895. c. 3+100 p. D. cl., 50 c. [2042]
- In the introduction the professor of English Literature in the Chicago University regards fiction as an art and claims that taste in fiction needs training. This training has been tried in Backworth, a mining village of Northumberland (England), for four years, and the result is here reported. Then follow articles on "Why is Charles Dickens a more famous novelist than Charles Reade?" by Miss Ellen Cumpston; "The character of Clara Middleton" (Meredith's "The egoist"), by Joseph Fairney; "The ideal of asceticism" (Gerard in "The cloister and the hearth"), by Rev. C. G. Hall; and "Character development in 'Romola,'" by Thomas Dawson.
- *Mun, T. England's treasure by forraign trade, 1664. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1895. 119 p. 16°, (Macmillan's economic classics) cl., 75 c. [2043]
- Munroe, Ja. Phinney. The educational ideal: an outline of its growth in modern times. Bost., D. C. Heath & Co., 1895. c. 6+262 p. D. (Heath's pedagogical lib.) cl., $1. [2044]
- The ideal is natural education which should always keep in mind what the pupil has become and is capable of becoming rather than the facts he has learned. Among the successive heroes who have fought for ideal education the author considers as types and leaders Rabelais, Francis Bacon, Comenius, Montaigne, Locke, the Jansenists, Fénelon, Rousseau, Pestalozzi, Froebel, and collectively women. A bibliography of works consulted covers 14 pages.
- Needell, Mrs. J. Hodder. The vengeance of James Vansittart. N. Y., Appleton, 1895. c. '94, '95. 4+366 p. D. (Appleton's town and country lib., no. 169.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c. [2045]
- A bright, beautiful girl, to save her family from dire distress, marries the heir of James Vansittart. From low motives of jealousy her husband is disinherited. He is a weak nature and he gives up and lives on a little pittance provided by his wife's grandmother. The life of a woman with a man whom she has never loved and cannot respect is described in detail. A scholarly physician who had had great influence in educating Diana Vansittart plays a very important part in her life, and although loving her passionately, teaches her steadily to do her duty to herself and her husband.

Paige, Ja. Illustrative cases in commercial paper with analysis and citations. Phil., T. & J. W. Johnson & Co., 1895. c. 12+346 p. O. (Pattee ser.) limp cl., net, $2. [2051]

Pemberton, L. B. Sappho, and other songs. Los Angeles, [L. Pemberton, P. O. Box 393.] Cal. 572 p. il. D. pap., 35 c. [2052]

The story of the tragic fate of Sappho who 610 B.C. cast herself from the Leucadian rock, suggests to the author the similar condition to which the cause of poetry has been reduced in these modern times. The advance of civilization has been said to crowd out poetry and all that is beautiful and ethereal. To prove this statement a fallacy, he has written his longest poem. The other poems are selections from comic operas and many verses on miscellaneous subjects.

Phillipotts, Eden. A deal with the devil. N. Y., F. Warne & Co., [1895.] 3-190 p. il. D. cl., $1. [2053]

The night before his hundredth birthday Mr. Daniel Dolphin has a dream, in which he makes a compact with the devil for ten years more of life. In every year he is to live ten years and to go backwards from his present age to non-existence. The story is told by his grand-daughter. The dream comes true and the incidents of his life as he grows younger hour by hour are described with rare humor.

Rideing, W: H. In the land of Lorna Doone and other pleasurable excursions in England. N. Y., T. Y. Crowell & Co., 1895. c. 4+173 p. S. cl., $1. [2059]

The author of "Thackeray's London" groups his descriptions of English scenery and English characteristics under the titles "In the land of Lorna Doone" (Exmoor); "In Cornwall with an umbrella"; "Coaching out of London"; "A bit of the Yorkshire coast"; "Amy Robsart, Kenilworth and Warwick" (Warwick). Mr. Rideing shows judgment in his selection of scenes famous in history and romance.

Roberts, F: Sleigh (Lord.) The rise of Wellington. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1895. 10+198 p. pors. plans, D. (Pall Mall Gazette Magazine lib., no. 2.) cl., $1.25. [2060]

The military career of Wellington naturally divides itself into three periods—the Indian period, the Peninsular period and the period during which he commanded the allied forces in the Netherlands, terminating in the battle of Waterloo. In three chapters, relating in turn to each of these periods, the principal incidents of this great soldier's life are briefly described.

Rood, H: E. The company doctor: an American story. N. Y., The Merriam Co., 1895. c. 259 p. D. cl., $1. [2061]

A story showing the dangers which are resulting from unrestricted emigration; the scene is laid in a mining town in the coal regions of Pennsylvania.

Rouse, Adelaide L. The Deane girls: a home story. Bost., A. I. Bradley & Co., [1895.] c. 406 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. [2062]

The "Deane girls" were the eight daughters of a poor clergyman of a parish in a pleasant town near Boston. To help out the small salary of their father they take summer boarders, teach school, engage in journalism and resort to various other devices. Seven years of their lives are described, the story leaving most of them married and happy.

Rowell, Harvey. Manual of instruction in hard soldering; with an appendix on the repair of bicycles and notes on soft soldering. 2d ed. N. Y., Spon & Chamberlain, 1895. 66 p. il. 8°, cl., 75 c. [2063]

Seymour, Horatio W. Government and Co., limited: an examination of the tendencies of privilege in the United States. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1895. c. 2-148 p. S. cl., 75 c. [2064]

The author points out that the delirious craze for wealth has laid hold of government in this Republic and has made privilege institutional. He claims privilege has no right to exist in a Republic. The dangers of privilege in lowering the tone of the people are ruthlessly stated. The writer claims the government can never be reformed until the people reform themselves and support the government instead of looking to the government to support the people. A strong plea for a true American spirit and nobler ideals than money and position.

Shaler, Nathaniel Southgate. Beaches and tidal marshes of the Atlantic coast. N. Y., American Book Co., [1895.] 137-168 p. O. (National geographic monographs, v. 1, no. 5.) pap., 20 c. [2065]

The author is professor of geology at Harvard University.

Sims, G: R. A changed man. N. Y., J. S. Ogilvie Pub. Co., 1895. 140 p. 12°, pap., 25 c. [2066]

Sonnenschein, W: Swan. A reader's guide to contemporary literature: being the first supplement to "The best books"; a reader's guide to the choice of the best available books (about 50,000) in every department of science, art and literature, with the dates of the first and last editions and the price, size, and publisher's name of each book. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1895. 4-775 p. Q. cl., $7.50. [2067]

Arranged by classes, with indexes under author and subject. For several reasons the author's original plan of a selected list has been modified, the present volume offering a record of practically all new publications in book-form which came within his scope and which seemed to him to have any lasting value at all: special prominence being given to the subjects of the day. Titles are followed by brief characterizations which represent "the general consensus of opinion of the most trustworthy scientific reviews." When "bad" books are mentioned, a warning is given. Contains a list of British publishers, booksellers, learned societies, etc.

Southern reporter, V. 16. Permanent ed. Oct. 3, 1894-Apr. 3, 1895. St. Paul, West Pub. Co., 1895. c. 14+1014 p. O. (National reporter system, state ser.) shp., $4. [2068]

Contains all the decisions of the supreme courts of Ala., La., Fla., Miss. With table of southern cases in which rehearings have been denied. With tables of southern cases published in v. 99, Ala. reports; 34, Fla. reports; 45, La. annual reports; 71, Miss. reports. A table of statutes construed is given in the index.

Tales from Town Topics, no. 16. N. Y., Town Topics Pub. Co., [1895.] c. 255 p. D. pap., 50 c. [2069]

Texas. A digest of Texas civil cases, including the supreme court reports, v. 52 to 86, and the first two hundred pages of v. 87; also civil appeals reports, v. 1 to 6; unreported cases, 2 v.; appeal civil cases, 4 v.; and cases from s. w. rep., v. 1 to 27, not found in the off. reports; the whole giving as many cases as are usually contained in over 60 v. of reports; by J: Sayles, assisted by W: G. Myer. V. 2, [H.-R.] St. Louis, The Gilbert Book Co., 1895. c. 5+769-1523 p. O. shp., $10. [2070]

Tomlinson, Everett T. The boy soldiers of 1812. Bost., Lee & Shepard, [1895.] c. 2+319 p. D. (War of 1812 ser., no. 2.) cl., $1.50. [2071]

The author's purpose by means of living characters to impart vital force to the condition and events of the War of 1812, carried out in "The search for Andrew Field," is again the motive of this volume. The scene of the events covered is laid on and about Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence River.

Townsend, E: Chimmie Fadden explains, Major Max expounds. N. Y., Lovell, Coryell & Co., [1895.] c. 266 p. D. cl., $1; pap., 50 c. [2072]

Weidemann, Alfred. The ancient Egyptian doctrine of the immortality of the soul. N. Y., imported by G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1895. 8+71 p. il. D. cl., $1. [2076]

The most important shape which the doctrine of immortality assumed in Egypt centred in the person of Osiris, the most popular of all the gods of Egypt. Wherever his worship spread it carried with it the doctrine of immortality associated with his name. It influenced the systems of Greek philosophy and made itself felt in the teachings of the gnostics. To no close student of the doctrine can it seem strange that Egypt was the first country in which Christianity permeated the whole body of the people. The figures of Christ and of Osiris have much in common. The significance of these facts in the history of the world are set forth by the Professor of Oriental Languages in the University of Bonn.

Wentworth, G. A. Mental arithmetic. Bost., Ginn & Co., 1895. c. 2+190 p. S. cl., 35 c. [2077]

Divided into four parts: Integral numbers, fractions, United States money, and percentage. The examples are such as arise constantly in daily life and a good drilling upon them would be excellent training for young business men.

Werner, Ernst, [pseud. for Eliz. Bürstenbinder.] The quill-driver; from the German, by Hettie E. Miller. Chic., E. A. Weeks & Co., [1895.] c. 238 p. D. (Marguerite ser., no. 54.) pap., 25 c. [2078]

Published under the title of "The hero of the pen in 1875," by W. F. Gill; in 1883 by George Munro. The story of a young girl who goes from her American home on the banks of the Mississippi to her father's people in Germany. The German wars of 1866 are introduced. A mystery surrounds the "Quill-driver," a studious German professor whose relationship to the young American is a surprise.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JUNE 15, 1895.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

HAVING described the "preparing," the "forwarding" and the "covering" of the volume, the book may be declared bound, and it is now ready for the decorator, into whose domain we shall not venture to intrude. His office, especially in recent times, has unfairly been magnified at the expense of the "forwarder," or bookbinder proper. The decorators of ancient binding were goldsmiths, enamellers, etc., and the finishers of modern times are really book decorators in this sense, not bookbinders.

The art of bookbinding (at least in its present character) may be said to begin with the ninth century. Under the enlightened patronage of Charles the Great, books multiplied, and the more valuable were bound in wooden boards covered with ornamented plates of gilt or silvered metal, set with gems and ivory carvings. This method of decorating books was far older than his time, and had long been in use in the Byzantine empire, though there are few specimens existing earlier than the ninth century. It is, perhaps, impossible to find homogeneity in bindings of this character, for, although the first overlaying of the metal-work may have been contemporaneous with the book, the accessory ornaments were usually relics of an older date; frequently portions of the covering were removed or altered to substitute fresh plaques with enamel or other more highly prized embellishments. But in the ninth century, simple leather coverings began to be largely employed for ordinary books, although the plainer bindings of that and the three succeeding centuries have not survived. It is only the thirteenth century that yields us some specimens of binding in stamped leather fastened over the wooden boards in which the books were enclosed. The simple impressed decoration of that time developed in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries into elaborate and often beautiful designs, embracing arabesque borders and compartments of scriptural or symbolical figures, sometimes bearing legends. In this style of bookbinding, although some fine examples were produced in France and Italy towards the end of the fifteenth century, the South Germans enjoyed a decided prominence, and it lingered among them till the end of the sixteenth century. With the beginning of that century the French began to discard the use of wooden boards, as the Italians had already done a generation earlier, and the present kind of paper-boarding or pasteboard came into nearly general use. Morocco leather began to be substituted for the old sheepskin, deerskin and hogskin coverings, and the impressed ornament was brightened with a little gold or silver. Princes and Popes of the Medici family, surrounded as they were by learning, art and refined luxury, stimulated the nascent taste for fine bindings, and Rome and Florence produced magnificent work, enriched by painters and goldsmiths, for their gratification. But this only refers to exceptional volumes; the regular craft of bookbinding was chiefly practised as an industrial art at Venice, where Aldus Pius Manutius employed artisans of every nationality in the binding-shop attached to his printing-house. Contemporary artists furnished designs, including even modifications of Oriental patterns (already familiar to Venetians), and the result was the production of good books in fine bindings, completely in the modern sense of the phrase. The sides of the volumes were no longer studded with gems or embossed with plates or precious carved metal; it was not the jeweller or the cunning artist in gold and silver to whom the book was indebted for its external beauty, but to the bookbinder, or perhaps, more properly speaking, to the artist in leather.

The names of most of the artisans and artists are now unknown, while those of their patrons shine with greater lustre than ever. Among the latter may be mentioned "Jean Grolier de Servier, Vicomte d'Aguisy," who was born in Lyons, 1476, and died in Paris, 1565. The Groliers, however, were originally from Verona. Jean Grolier was for a time treasurer to the Duke of Milan, and was sent by Francis I. as ambassador to Pope Clement VII. He was a passionate book collector, and during his residence in Italy became a patron of Aldus and others. Some of the books from the Aldine Press were brought out wholly, and many partly, at his expense. It is thought that he himself designed the graceful decorations that ornament his covers. More probably he was materially assisted by Geoffrey Tory, the most skillful designer of his day, and Estienne de Laulne, the celebrated goldsmith and engraver. The chief characteristics of Grolier's books were the interlacing bands and graceful arabesques in gold tooling.

The origin of the art of gold tooling is very obscure; the method, which seems first to have been employed, at Venice, about the time that Aldus established his press in that city, superseded an earlier use of gold in the decoration of books. The art was certainly brought from the East, and is said to have been employed with effect in Syria as early as the 13th century. The bindings executed in Italy during the second half of the 15th century are commonly of brown leather, tooled in blind, on either cover, with a border of an intricate design. In these designs solid tooling (solid ornamentation in gold) was supplanted by the hollow (ornamentation outlined in gold) and azured tooling (ornamentation outlined in gold and crossed by horizontal lines in the manner of indicating azure in heraldry). It should not be forgotten that Grolier was not a bookbinder; he was an amateur, and being endowed with consummate taste and immense wealth, he rode his hobby well. At different periods of his life Grolier placed different mottoes upon his books. The most usual and best-known inscription bore the generous words: "Io Grolierii et Amicorum," or else "Mei Grolierii Lugdunens. et Amicorum," imitated perhaps from his friend Maioli. Sometimes this motto is found tooled on the bindings; sometimes it is written with his own hand on one of the pages. Grolier is credited with two innovations: the first, that of lettering the title upon the back of his books and placing them upon the shelves back foremost, according to the present fashion, instead of edges foremost according to the old plan; the second, the use of morocco for binding.

Other celebrated French patrons of the bibliopegic art in this century were Henry II., Francis II., Diana of Poitiers, Catherine de Medici, Mary Stuart, Marguerite (who married Henry IV.) and Thommaso Maioli, whose designs, many art students claim, show greater artistic merit than the Grolier. The principal features of a Maioli design are a perfect curve in scrollwork where it is used, a framework of flowing curved lines more than of figures of geometrical shape, ornaments of moresque character, mostly in outline, sometimes azured, and an enrichment of part of the field with a studding of gold dots. The distinguishing features of the art in France during the 16th century were the semé or powder, (ornamentation in which the device or devices are regularly repeated at intervals,) and the elaborate central figure surrounded by rolling arabesques. Towards the last of the century a new style crept in, consisting of a framework of small compartments formed by double filleted bands. The golden time of ornamental art in book-binding was the half-century between 1525 and 1575. For the first twenty years of that period the Italians had the best of it; during the other thirty the French took the lead, which they have never lost, notwithstanding the decided deterioration in style which followed the persecution of the Huguenots. It would seem as though the great artists who worked for Henry II., Diane, Catherine, Mary Stuart, and Charles IX. were Huguenots from the south of France. Lyons was a nursing-place for book-men, heretic artists, and connected in various ways with men of great mark, such, for instance, as Aldus, Grolier, Dolet, Servetus, Holbein, Cousin and Petit Barnard. The reputation of Venice as the home of the bookbinding industry came to be divided with Lyons from about the time when Grolier returned to France, and the Venetian and Lyonnese bindings, even of the most ordinary kind, produced between 1530 and 1600, are nearly always good and tasteful. The ornament was produced by impressions in gold from engraved plates—an excellent process, but not, of course, to be compared with the fine hand-work that appears on the books of the great collectors. This style of binding was naturalized in England about 1560, after a little indulgence in Grolieresque models, which had succeeded, about 1545, to the coarse wooden boards and stamped leather work familiar everywhere. The last and best development of that English Grolieresque work appears in the books bound about 1560 for Thomas Wotton (the father of the famous Sir Henry), and prevailed till the time of Charles I. The principal English binders of this period were John Reynes, whose work was considered excellent enough to compare with that of his Italian and French competitors; Michael Loble, William Hill, John Toye, Cundall, for some of whom Holbein is said to have designed patterns, and whose patrons were Henry VIII., Edward VI., Mary I., Elizabeth, and Robert Dudley, Earl of Leicester.

THE announcement just made by Mr. George H. Davis, of Detroit, Mich., that he has been obliged to discontinue the publication of the Index Medicus, is a fact that must be regretted by specialists and reference libraries all over the world. Intended to supplement the material designed for the "Index Catalogue of the Library of the Surgeon-General's office U. S. A.," the publication of the Index Medicus was commenced by Mr. F. Leypoldt in January, 1879. From the start it was a losing enterprise, notwithstanding the fact that some of the most prominent physicians of this country made heroic sacrifices to maintain it and to encourage its ever-sanguine publisher. On the death of Mr. Leypoldt, Mr. Davis offered to continue the publication; but even with his wider connections with the medical profession, and with facilities for reaching possible subscribers that were not at the command of the founder of the Index Medicus, Mr. Davis has been obliged to carry it, since 1885, at an annual loss of from $500 to $1000—a sacrifice that was bound in time to wear out the most enthusiastic devotee of an art or profession. And so, the best bibliographical journal of its kind in the world must give up its existence because in a constituency that must number upwards of a million, not enough individuals could be found who were public-spirited enough to contribute to the actual cost of printing and publishing—the editors having offered their services free, or at a nominal price, and the publisher having been satisfied with the honor of being connected with so valuable an aid to his profession. Verily, the way of the bibliographer is not a path of roses.

REMINISCENCES OF A NEW ENGLAND BOOKSELLER.

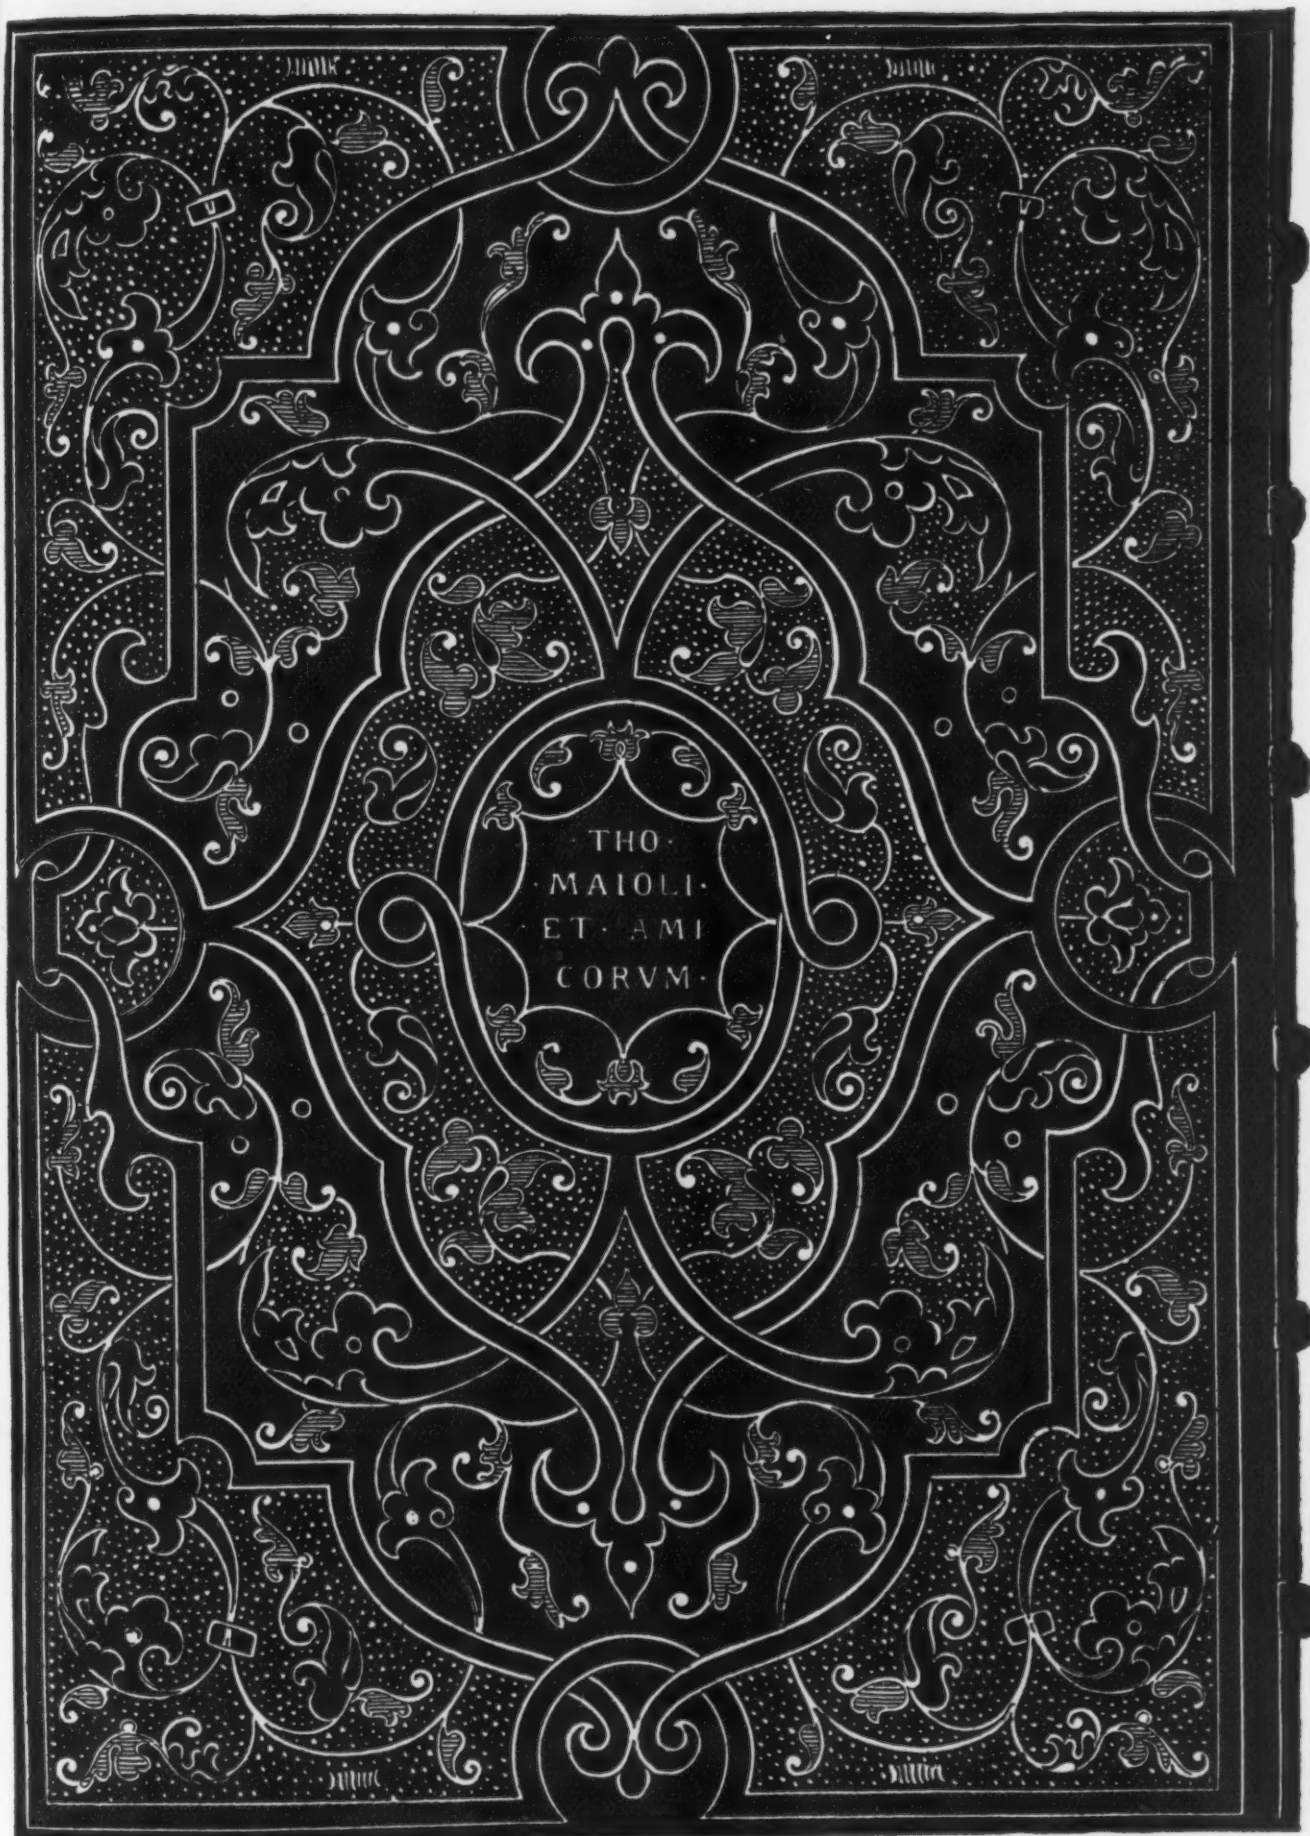

THE presence on my desk of the first volume of the first edition of The Massachusetts State Law Reports recalls some reminiscences which may perhaps be of interest to some of the young, as well as to the older, members of the book trade. This first volume of the reports (which now number 161 volumes, and have for many years been issued by Little, Brown & Co.) was issued by S. & E. Butler in 1805, in Northampton, Mass., then a town of 2500 inhabitants. In that day such a publication must have involved quite half of the property of its publishers, and remains an evidence of pluck and enterprising spirit. It rather reflects on Boston that country booksellers should have got ahead of the capital city in making the permanent record of laws passed in Massachusetts.

Simeon Butler, senior member of the firm, began business in Northampton in 1792. In 1800 he published Vattel's "Law of Nations," which had been translated into English in 1760, but until then had not been printed in the United States. This work of the Swiss philosopher and jurist, first published in 1758, had had an immense success, and the discussions aroused by its theories, chiefly resting on the works of Leibnitz and Wolf, had led to its being translated and circulated in many lands. Mr. Simeon Butler also engaged in paper-making, and was the manufacturer of the first American letter-paper used in the United States Senate. I well remember in those early days taking in rags from thrifty housekeepers far and near, sorting and picking them into large bins in great cellars, from which they were taken by the Crane Brothers, who drove from Dalton over the Berkshire and Hampshire Hills to collect them.

Northampton in those days was quite a publishing centre, and many standard books were issued within its limits and in its immediate outlying towns. Webster's Dictionary, for instance, began its career in the neighboring town of Amherst, its early editions bearing the names of J. S. & C. Adams, worthy predecessors of G. & C. Merriam, of Springfield, now world-famous for their promulgation and constant perfecting of this great dictionary.

For many years Butler's Book-Store was the gathering place for the wits, celebrated men, politicians, theologians and of many senators of whose names Northampton is justly proud.

J. H. Butler, the son of Simeon, was a man of rare judgment and true as steel, and his relations with his fellow-men and with his clerks were such that one of the latter (and later for many years his partner) delights to pay even this small tribute to his memory. For over fifty years the writer has been in this old "Butler Book-Store" in "Shop Row" near Main Street, a store formerly occupied by Simeon Butler, the grandfather and great-grandfather of some genial souls, who now in New York still carry on the book business in a manner worthy of their honored name. We who remember the old days, when the "Butler Book-Store" was the centre of culture and enterprise in Northampton, think regretfully of the grand old days when boys were not afraid to pick rags, scrub sidewalks, saw wood, fill lamps with whale oil, sweep and scrub the store, put up and take down the heavy old-fashioned shutters, and were willing to rise early and stay late in a store kept open twelve hours a day, where giving up vacations and paying interested attention to our employer's business gave us in the end a sure chance for ourselves.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

BOLLES vs. OUTING FOR REPRINTING A PHOTOGRAPH WITHOUT AUTHORITY.

CHARLES E. BOLLES, a Brooklyn, N. Y., photographer, sued Outing in the United States Circuit Court, held in New York City, for publishing his picture of the Vigilant in violation of the Copyright law. Damages were laid at $50,100, $1 for each copy of the paper circulated, suit having been commenced before the Copyright law had been changed to limit the amount of damage for violation of the law. The case was tried on the 11th inst. before Judge E. Henry Lacombe. The defence was that the copyright was not properly protected, as the announcement on the photograph that it was copyrighted was invisible, except under a microscope, and was also not worded in accordance with the requirements of the statute. The plaintiff also could not prove the circulation of the paper, except through its agents, whose evidence was not admissible, as the paper was not required to incriminate itself. In accordance with the instructions of the Judge, who held that the words denoting copyright were indistinct, the jury found for the defendant without leaving the box.

OBITUARY NOTES.

STEPHEN B. MILLER, bookseller, of Hudson, N. Y., died in that city on the 11th inst., aged 72 years. He was an old-time bookseller, having been a clerk in the store of his brother-in-law, P. S. Wynkoop, of Hudson, during his youth and early manhood. He succeeded to the business early in the sixties. He was a man of great refinement, well educated and possessed of considerable literary ability. He published several books relating to the history of Columbia County and the city of Hudson, which is one of the oldest cities in the State. He was well known through that section of the State, and also to the trade in New York City, and was a man that stood very high, indeed. He was never married.

DR. DANIEL KIRKWOOD, late Professor of Mathematics in Indiana State University, died in Riverside, Cal., on the 11th inst. He was born in Bradysburgh, Md., September 27, 1814. From 1843 until shortly before his death he devoted himself to educational pursuits, making mathematics and astronomy his special studies. Among his works are: "Analogy Between the Periods of Rotation of the Primary Planets"; "Theory of Jupiter's Influence in the Formation of Gaps in the Zones of Minor Planets"; "Physical Explanation of the Intervals in Saturn's Rings"; "Meteoritic Astronomy"; "Comets and Meteors," and "The Asteroids or Minor Planets Between Mars and Jupiter."

LEWIS VAN ANTWERP, the senior member of the school-book publishing firm of Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., of Cincinnati, O., died in Cincinnati on the 30th ult. Mr. Van Antwerp was born in New York, and came from old Dutch stock. While he was yet very young his parents moved to Augusta, Ky., and from that place early in his business life he made his way to Cincinnati, where in 1851, when twenty-one years of age, he entered the employ of Winthrop B. Smith & Co., school-book publishers, then located at 58 Main Street in that city. He was industrious and intelligent, and made decided progress in the business. In 1862 the firm was succeeded by that of Sargent, Wilson & Hinkle, and Mr. Van Antwerp remained with the new house. Six years later Mr. Sargent retired and the firm became Wilson, Hinkle & Co., Mr. Van Antwerp being the junior member. His interest was small and he remained the junior partner until 1877, when Messrs. Wilson and Hinkle retired, and Mr. Van Antwerp organized the new firm of Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., now a part of the American Book Company. Physical infirmities compelled Mr. Van Antwerp to relinquish the cares of business, and on January 1, 1890, he withdrew from the firm. He went abroad for his health, and while on the trip had a stroke of paralysis.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

DU MAURIER has finished a new novel which is said to be virtually a sequel to "Trilby." The scenes are laid in Antwerp, Paris, and London.

ALBERT D. VANDAM the clever author of "An Englishman in Paris," etc., has ready another volume of reminiscences entitled "French Men and Manners."

BLISS CARMAN, who was for some time associated with Stone & Kimball both as reader to the publishing house and as editor of the Chap Book, has severed his connection with the firm and come East again.

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE has just finished a new novel which he entitles "On the Point." The interest of the story, which gives a picture of New England life, hangs on the playful touch of satire and agreeable humor with which Mr. Dole has already made us acquainted. It will be illustrated.

H. M. ALDEN, the editor of Harper's Monthly, and author of "God in His World," will bring out later in the year a volume to be entitled "A Study of Death," in which he will aim to "rob death of its terrors, to enforce its significance as a normal mystery of transition about which there need hang no glooms of regret or fear."

PAUL BOURGET, though scarcely forty years of age, has been elected a member of the French Academy, and so becomes "an immortal." He is the first representative of that modern school of literature of which De Maupassant and Zola were, with him, the pioneers, "to force the portals," as the European edition of the Herald says, "of an assembly in which modern literature up to the present time has not exactly borne an odor of sanctity."

EDWARD W. THOMSON, of the editorial staff of the Youth's Companion, leads off Crowell's forthcoming series of Off-hand Stories with a volume entitled "Old Man Savarin, and others." Mr. Thomson was born in Canada in 1849, of an old American Loyalist family. Before he was sixteen he enlisted in a Pennsylvania cavalry regiment and served with the army of the Potomac during the closing scenes of the Civil War. When he returned home he served in the field with the Queen's Own Rifles, became a civil engineer, and at thirty years of age turned to political journalism. In 1891 he removed to Boston to accept his present post on the Companion. With an uncommonly varied experience of life, Mr. Thomson has for years past written many capital stories for Harper's Weekly, and other leading journals and magazines. His powers of humorous description, of the sympathetic portrayal of his own people, have brought him wide and deserved popularity. In his forthcoming book he will tell several stories of the Civil War, and introduce certain quaint and amusing characters still to be found in Canadian forests and on Canadian rivers. Adventures, too, with more than a dash of the marvellous, are to be set forth in the direct, convincing style which marks everything Mr. Thomson writes.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE clever New York magazinelet, Chips, has secured as an attraction for the forthcoming July issue a short prose article, heretofore unpublished, on poets and poetry by Oliver Wendell Holmes.

A SECOND "volume" is announced of "Moods: a Journal Intime," which will aim to "give expression, as nearly as may be, to the unfettered strivings of the artist's or author's ideals to realize themselves in picture or poem or prose." The publishers are The Jenson Press, 810 Sansom Street, Philadelphia.

The Lark, intended by its purveyors as truly a "lark," a joke, and not a periodical to be taken seriously, has proven such a success that there is a fair prospect of its being continued indefinitely. At any rate, a second number is announced to appear at once. It is published by a coterie of "literary fellows" in San Francisco, Cal.

"IMITATION and no end." First it was The Chap-Book, then followed Chips, Moods, Chameleon, The Lark, and now The Philistine has arrived. Though typographically almost a facsimile of its predecessors, The Philistine is gifted with a bumptiousness that is refreshing, and promises to stir somewhat ungenially the inanities of its rivals. East Aurora, N. Y., is its official home.

The Bachelor of Arts is the title of a new monthly devoted to university interests and general literature. The contents of the first number include a list of interesting contributions, to which are added the departments of book notices, athletics, and comments on university news. These last two are under the supervision of Messrs. Walter Camp and E. S. Martin. The editor is Mr. John Seymour Wood, 15 Wall Street, New York City, and the advisory board consists of Messrs. J. H. Choate, Chauncey M. Depew, J. Frederic Kernochan, Buchanan Winthrop, John E. Parsons, James W. Alexander, William B. Hornblower, Robert Grant, Henry Cabot Lodge, Austen G. Fox, Elihu Root, Daniel G. Rollins, Henry R. Beekman, William Jay, Julien T. Davies, and Henry E. Howland.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE third and fourth volumes of Barras' "Memoirs" are to be published in October.

LONGMANS, GREEN & CO. have in press a volume of "Thoughts from the Writings of Richard Jefferies," selected by Mr. H. S. Hoole Waylen.

A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn., will publish shortly the autobiography of Mrs. Mary A. Livermore. The manuscript was practically compiled by Mrs. Livermore prior to the illness from which she is now slowly recovering, at her home, in Melrose, Mass.

THE MERRIAM COMPANY, New York, last month issued in book form a story, "Some Good Intentions and a Blunder," as having been written by John Oliver Hobbes. They have since learned that John Oliver Hobbes did not write the tale, which, in consequence, has been withdrawn from the market.

THE EXCELSIOR PUBLISHING HOUSE, N. Y., has in preparation an important practical work on "Hot-Water Heating, Steam and Gas Fitting," by James J. Lawler, who speaks from twenty-five years' practical experience. The work will prove useful to master plumbers, steam fitters, architects and householders. It will be fully illustrated.

WM. J. CAMPBELL, Philadelphia, has just published a portrait of Alexander Hamilton, etched by Albert Rosenthal after Trumbull's painting in the Trumbull collection in the Yale School of Art. The size of the engraved surface is 14x17, the size of the plate-mark is 17x12 inches. The proofs are on Japan paper, numbered, remarked, signed and strictly limited to 130 copies.

THE first volume of the Blaine biography will be issued within a few weeks. Before Gail Hamilton was taken ill the work had been revised down to the close of the Minneapolis Convention, and the remaining chapters, except part of the last, had all been written. When it became evident that delay would result from Gail Hamilton's illness, Mrs. Harriet Prescott Spofford was called upon to revise the final chapters, with the approval of Mrs. Blaine.

GUILLAUMIN & CIE., Paris, publish under the title of "Le Homestead aux Etats-Unis" an elaborate treatise by the French statistician and economist L. Vasher on the American homestead in its legal, moral, political, economical, and social relations to the community at large, to sailors, soldiers, Indians, and the general development of the industry of the country. The author makes comparison of this institution with the English Manor, the German Hofrecht, and the Russian Mir.

G. W. DILLINGHAM announces for immediate publication: "The Disagreeable Man," by A. S. M.; "The Disagreeable Woman," by Julian Starr; "Private Letters of a French Woman," by M'lle Claire Foldairolles; "Passion's Dream," by W. Boyd Sample; "A Modern Pharisee," by Eduard de Brose; "Jargal," by Victor Hugo; and a new, popular edition of Lucy Dillingham's "The Missing Chord." Early in July he will issue a new book by Mary J. Holmes entitled "Doctor Hathern's Daughters ;" also, "A Black Adonis," by Albert Ross.

MACMILLAN & Co. will publish in the fall the lectures on art that John La Farge delivered at the Metropolitan Museum of Art a year ago and which attracted wide-spread attention. They have also in press "Off the Mill," a delightful account of a holiday tour in Switzerland, by Canon Browne of St. Paul's, the new Suffragan Bishop for East London ; and a book entitled "The United States of America, 1765-1861," by Prof. Edward Channing, of Harvard, whose aim it has been to devote less attention to battles than is customary in works of this kind, and to elucidate the deeper causes underlying the great movements in our history.

EARLY in October Sampson Low, Marston & Co. will publish the first number of "Sampson Low's Annual." The leading story will be "Slain by the Doones, a record of Exmoor," by R. D. Blackmore, in which some of the characters in "Lorna Doone" will reappear, and there will also be an original story by Clark Russell, entitled "The Revenge of the Dead," a romantic tale by S. R. Crockett, entitled "The Popish Parson Fellow," and contributions by other popular writers. The annual will also include a colored plate, "The Foundling" (from the well-known picture in the Luxembourg), and one of "The Seasons," being a calendar for the coming year. The illustrations, which are numerous, will be reproduced in colors.

MR. JAMES BOWDEN, managing director of Ward, Lock & Bowden, Ltd., reached New York last week and will remain here a short time. Mr. Bowden is not a stranger among us, having made a number of acquaintances in the trade on his former visits to this country, who remember him for his charming personality. He began his career as a bookseller under S. O. Beeton, in 1865, and when, four years later, Mr. Beeton joined Ward & Lock, Mr. Bowden went with him. Ten years afterwards, in 1879, he first began to participate in the profits of the firm, subsequently becoming a managing partner; July 27, 1891, his name was added to that of Ward and Lock. Much of the success of the firm during the past fifteen or sixteen years is due to Mr. Bowden, whose knowledge of publishing in every one of its manifold phases is such as few men can claim. He has also an intimate acquaintance with the details of American publishing, having visited nearly all the more noteworthy publishing houses.

PICK-UPS.

THE MANUSCRIPT RETURNED.

E. Copinger Ward in N. Y. Herald.

Poor little wanderer !
Fate was unkind to thee !
Patient hope's squanderer !
Fame has been blind to thee !
Back from rude editors,
Lynx-eyed their scrutiny
All thy discreditors ;
Thine not to mutiny.
Rest in obscurity,
Till, in futurity,
Laws may be passed
Decreeing it jailable
To write "not available,"
"Genius" to blast,
Then, with no stint o' space,
Thou'lt, at a sprinter's pace,
Come from the printer's case
Published—at last !

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as "not having been received."

JOHN MURPHY & CO.'S New Books.

CARDINAL GIBBONS. The Faith of Our Fathers. By JAMES CARDINAL GIBBONS. 16mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

A plain exposition and vindication of the Church founded by Our Lord Jesus Christ.

CARDINAL GIBBONS. Our Christian Heritage. By JAMES CARDINAL GIBBONS. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; cloth gilt, $1.50, net.

"No Catholic books ever published have had so large a sale, and none have exercised so great an influence on the public mind. They are noble works, in execution as well as conception. They are written from the standpoint of the Christian, not that of the churchman."—N. Y. Herald.

SATOLLI. Loyalty to Church and State. The Collected Addresses and Speeches of FRANCIS ARCHBISHOP SATOLLI, Papal Delegate. 1 vol., 12mo, cloth, 250 pages, $1.25.

The speeches and addresses contained in this volume were delivered by His Excellency the Most Rev. Francis Satolli, Archbishop of Lepanto, Delegate Apostolic to the United States, since his arrival in America, and are published with his sanction.

His appreciation and admiration for the letter and spirit of our Constitution are in their nature so true and admirable, that even the great framers thereof could not have defended their memorable work in words breathing more enthusiasm or more appealing to generations yet unborn to stand by its lofty teachings.

ZAHM. Bible, Science, and Faith. By Rev. J. A. ZAHM, C.S.C., Professor of Physics in the University of Notre Dame. 12mo, cloth, $1.25, net.

Embracing his famous lectures on "The Antiquity of Man," "Religion and Science," "The Biblical Deluge," "The Mosaic Hexaemeron," and "The Mosaic Account of Creation," in the light of modern science.

"We look upon Father Zahm's book as a veritable godsend because it is both theologically and scientifically sound."—The Month, London.

DE WITT. The Judicial Murder of Mrs. Mary E. Surratt. By DAVID MILLER DE WITT. 1 vol., 12mo, cloth, 260 pages, $1.25, net.

A narrative of the proceedings of the military commission that tried, convicted and sentenced this lady to death on a charge of complicity in the assassination of President Lincoln. Together with the conduct of the trial, the arguments of the defence, the charge of Judgeingham, the sentence and the execution.

DAHLGREN. Social-Official Etiquette of the United States. By Mrs. M. V. DAHLGREN. An explanation of the forms and usages that prevail in social and official circles at Washington. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

"Mrs. Dahlgren sets forth the special rules of the Washington code clearly and explicitly."—The Dial, Chicago.

PUBLISHED BY THE CENTURY CO. JUNE 15th.

SÓNYA KOVALÉVSKY.A Book that Will Attract Wide Attention.

The authorized American edition of a book which has excited an interest in Europe akin to that of Marie Bashkirtseff. The story of the life of a Russian woman of great genius, crowned with honors by the leading universities, whose life was made unhappy by reason of the very things which brought her honors. She contracted a fictitious marriage with a young student so that she could be free to study away from her family. The book is of great interest at this time when the "New Woman" is being so much talked about. 8vo, 300 pages, fine paper, $1.75.

AN ERRANT WOOING.

Mrs. BURTON HARRISON's new novel just completed in The Century and reprinted in book form with a great number of illustrations—photographic reproductions of views in Gibraltar, Tangier, Southern Spain, etc. A handbook of Mediterranean travel—everybody who has made the trip or has it in mind will want it. 12mo, 258 pages, $1.50.

VACATION BOOKS.

WHEN ALL THE WOODS ARE GREEN. Dr. WEIR MITCHELL's new romance of adventure on a Canadian salmon river. $1.50.

THE MOUNTAINS OF CALIFORNIA. JOHN MUIR's great book, highly commended by critics everywhere. $1.50.

A New Practical German Grammar

AND EXERCISE BOOK.

For learning German without a master and for the use of schools, colleges, etc.

By Dr. Rudolf Sonnenburg and Rev. M. Schoelch.

XI. 308 pp. Retail price $1.00.

"This is a superior book excellently adapted for the object intended, viz.: to 'smooth the way into German.' The merits of the work are beyond controversy; its method is alike simple and convincing, and testifies to the authors' thorough knowledge of the subject."—The Teacher and Organist, Cincinnati, April, 1895.

"The book is intended for English-speaking persons who desire to learn German. It may be used either as a self-instructor or as a class-book. The book has many merits. It is based upon sound and natural principles. Too much theory and too little practice is very detrimental to beginners. In this book we have ample practice and still enough theory to justify the demand."—Abbey Student, Atchison, Kans., April, 1895.

"This new publication is an excellent one especially adapted for learning German without a master and for the use of schools, colleges, etc."—Niagara Index, Niagara University, April, 1895.

"We consider the new grammar preferable in many respects to any that we have seen, and can safely recommend it to students of German as an exhaustive and complete text-book. In price it is within the reach of all."—St. Vincent's Journal, Beatty, Pa., April, 1895.

French, German, and English Books.

THE second revised edition of Flügel's German-English and English-German Dictionary is now for sale. Price reduced to $16.50 for the 3 vols.
German-English part $5.50, half morocco binding.

NEW AND IMPORTANT BOOKS.

Wild Flowers of the North-Eastern States.

Drawn and carefully described from Life, without undue use of scientific nomenclature, by ELLEN MILLER and MARGARET C. WHITING. With 308 illustrations the size of life, and a frontispiece printed in colors. Large quarto, buckram. In box, $4.50 net.

This work presents upwards of 300 drawings of American wild flowers, together with full descriptive text, and covers ground which has not been covered by any previous botanical publication.

William the Silent,

Prince of Orange, the Moderate Man of the XVIth Century. The Story of his Life as told in his own Letters, in those of his Friends and his Enemies, and from Official Documents. By RUTH PUTNAM. With 53 illustrations, maps, fac-simile reproductions, etc., etc. Two volumes, crown octavo, gilt tops, $3.75.

Dr. Izard.

By ANNA KATHARINE GREEN, author of "The Leavenworth Case," "Marked 'Personal,'" etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

This story is quite distinct in character from the author's previous books. It has already been printed as a serial, and the reviewer speaks of it as "a story of distinctive originality and exceptional power, which will linger in the memory of its readers."

Yale Yarns.

By JOHN SEYMOUR WOOD. Similar in general style to "Harvard Stories." 12mo, illustrated, cloth, $1.00.

A volume of characteristic stories of Yale undergraduate life, full of humor, and written something in the same vein as W. K. Post's recently published "Harvard Stories."

The Countess Bettina.

The History of an Innocent Scandal. (No. 5 in the "Hudson Library.") Cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

An entertaining story by a popular writer who will, for the time, remain anonymous.

Water Tramps;

Or The Cruise of the Sea Bird. By GEORGE HERBERT BARTLETT (similar in general style to "A Literary Courtship"). 16mo, cloth, $1.00.

The History of Currency 1252-1894.

By W. A. SHAW. 8vo, cloth, uncut, $3.75, net.

"The present bimetallic controversy has given birth to nothing more profound and convincing than a book of some 400 pages entitled 'The History of Currency, 1252 to 1894,' by W. A. Shaw, an English author, who has done for the currencies of the civilized world what Lord Liverpool did for that of England in his classical work, 'On the Coins of the Realm.' Mr. Shaw's work, like that of Lord Liverpool, possesses a permanent historical interest far transcending the present battle of the standards."—From an editorial in the New York Evening Post.

A Gender in Satin.

By "RITA," author of "A Husband of No Importance," etc., etc. No. 6 in the Incognito Library. American Copyright Edition. 24mo, limp cloth, 50 cents.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS, Publishers, 27 W. 23d St., N. Y.
